

Pitt IT Security Policy

Never store or write down user login information

Change computer passwords to a standard preset if future access is needed.

Never store any personal information on a user's device

Always connect a machine to the internet via ethernet, preferable unauthenticated. Utilize incognito windows to access software downloads without saving credentials to the browser.

Obtain a user's signed consent before erasing data

Never erase user data off of a machine before ensuring they have consented. If you are unsure whether or not a computer can be wiped, contact the owner immediately.
